The Filley Spotlight

THE EDSON ANCESTRY

Thomas Edson, who lived in Adderbury, Oxfordshire, England, is the earliest known ancestor of the family. The name is of Anglo-Saxon origin, and the family was long in England, although the name is not a common one. Thomas was born there about 1480. He married Juliana, daughter of John and Elizabeth [Fox] Bustard. Thomas was a small farm owner. They had two children in Adderbury:

- 1 Richard
- 2 Margaret

Richard Edson was born in Adderbury, the son of Thomas Edson, and his wife's name was Agnes. He was buried in 1558. Thomas was his only son. Children:

- 11 Christiana
- 12 Anne
- 13 Thomas

1164542

Thomas Edson settled in Fillongley and his wife was named Ellen. They had a daughter and four sons. He died in 1587 and was buried in Fillongley. Children, baptized in the Fillongley church as follows:

- 131 Elizabeth, Aug. 21, 1562
- 132 Nicholas, Oct. 28, 1565
- 133 Richard, May 9, 1568
- 134 Thomas, Sept. 7, 1572
- 134 William, Nov. 1, 1576

Thomas Edson, the third son, was baptized in the church at Fillongley on Sept. 7, 1572, and married Elizabeth Copson on Nov. 1, 1596. They had five sons and two daughters, all baptized in Fillongley, England:

- 1341 William, Mar. 4, 1598
- 1342 Anne, Aug. 22, 1602
- 1343 Nicholas, Mar. 6, 1607
- 1344 Amphillis, Aug. 12, 1610
- 1345 Samuel, Sept. 5, 1613
- 1346 Joshua, Feb. 2, 1616
- 1347 Walter, Jan. 30, 1619

Dea. Samuel Edson was the ancestor of the American branch of the family. He was baptized Sept. 5, 1613, in Fil-long ley, Warwickshire, England, the third son of Thomas and Elizabeth [Copson] Edson. He married, in Warwickshire, Susanna Orcutt, who was born there in 1618. They came to America in 1639, soon after their marriage, and first settled at Salem, Mass. About ten years later they moved to the new town of Bridgewater, in Plymouth county. There Samuel Edson built the first corn mill in the town, sending to England for the necessary machinery. He was one of the fifty-six original proprietors of Bridgewater, a deacon in the Puritan church and a prominent leader in the affairs of the community until his death July 19, 1692. His widow died on Feb. 20, 1699, and their gravestones are still standing in the old burial ground in Bridgewater, Mass., after more than two centuries. They were the parents of three sons and five daughters, who married into some of the foremost colonial families of Massachusetts and from whom are descended all the Edsons* in the United States:

- 13451 Susanna, born in Salem, Mass., in 1640
- 13452 Sarah, born about 1641
- 13453 Elizabeth, born about 1643
- 13454 Samuel, born 1645
- 13455 Mary, born about 1647
- 13456 Joseph, born 1649
- 13457 Josiah, born in Duxbury Plantation† in 1651
- 13458 Bethiah, born in Duxbury Plantation about 1653

Susannah married about 1664 Rev. James Keith, the first minister of Bridgewater. Sarah married Nov. 7, 1663, John Dean of Taunton. Elizabeth married Richard Phillips of Weymouth‡. Mary married Sept. 10, 1676, Nicholas Byram, jr. Joseph married (1) in 1678 Experience Field; (2) Nov. 2, 1686, Mary, daughter of George Turner. Josiah married Mary Dean of Taunton: no children. Bethiah married Ezra Dean of Taunton.

Samuel Edson was born in Salem in 1645. He was a soldier in King Philip's war, 1676. In 1678 he married Susan-

*It is probable that Samuel Edison, the grandfather of Thomas Alva Edison, the famous inventor, was a scion of this stock. He accompanied the loyalist settlers to Nova Scotia from New York after the Revolution. Samuel's wife was Ann Roop, daughter of Maj. Isaac Roop of the New York loyalist forces or Nova Scotia militia, of Dutch descent.

na Byram, born in Weymouth, Mass., in 1648, daughter of Nicholas and Susanna [Shaw] Byram.* He was 30 years old and unmarried when he went out with 21 other men of Bridgewater to join the soldiers under Capt. Church, who were coming from Plymouth to fight Indians. They failed to meet Capt. Church's party but came unexpectedly upon a number of redskins. A fight immediately followed and 17 Indians were taken prisoner "with much plunder." The Bridgewater men returned unhurt to the settlement, and the prisoners were sold for money, and the town voted "that the soldiers that took them should have it." His brother Joseph was also a member of this expedition. Samuel's house was burned with sixteen other buildings when the Indians raided Bridgewater on May 8, 1676. He lived in what is now West Bridgewater, where his father gave him 40 acres. He became a proprietor of the town about 1683. He was a selectman in 1709, 1712 and 1719, and represented the town in the General Court at Boston in 1697 and 1713. He was a man of strict integrity. He was 33 years old when he married and his wife was 30. He died in Bridgewater on April 10, 1719, aged 74, and his widow died Mar. 12, 1742, aged 93. Only three children are recorded:

- 134541 Susanna, born Jan. 15, 1679
- 134542 Elizabeth, born Aug. 29, 1684
- 134543 Samuel, born Jan. 14, 1690

*Nicholas Byram was first in Weymouth, Mass., where he married Susanna, daughter of Abraham Shaw of Dedham. Their children were: Abigail (m. in 1656 Thomas Whitman), Deliverance (m. 1660 John Porter), Nicholas (m. Sept. 20, 1676, Mary Edson), Experience (m. John Willis), Susanna (m. Samuel Edson, jr.) and Mary (m. Samuel Leach). Nicholas Byram settled in Bridgewater about 1660, buying a proprietary share each from Moses Simons, Philip Delano and George Soule. He died April 13, 1688, and his widow died about ten years later. Her father, Abraham Shaw, came from Kent, England, where he had married on June 24, 1616, Bridget Best, born Apr. 9, 1592, a daughter of Henry Best. Abraham Shaw was an early settler in Dedham, Mass., where he was granted sixty acres Mar. 23, 1637, to build a corn mill. On May 11, 1637, he and his son Joseph were granted additional land. The mill was not built, for on Mar. 25, 1639, the town offered "to any man who would undertake to erect a corn mill so much ground as was formerly granted to Abraham Shaw for that same end . . . , ye said Abraham being dead." He died after Nov. 2, 1638, when he and Joseph deeded land to Ferdinando Adams. His will is on Boston records without date, giving his estate at Dedham to his sons Joseph and John and dividing the rest among all his children, although naming otherwise only Joseph, Mary, John and Martha—the two latter being minors. The Shaws removed to Weymouth after 1639.

Susanna married 1699 John Hayward, jr. Elizabeth married May 24, 1705, Samuel Packard.

Samuel Edson 3d was born in Bridgewater on Jan. 14, 1690. He married Jan. 1, 1708, Mary Dean, born in 1687 in Taunton, the daughter of Benjamin and Sarah [Williams] Dean.* He was not quite 18 and she was 20. She was an intelligent and well read woman and their married life was happy. They became interested in the Episcopal Church, and he was induced to give up the religion of his Puritan father and grandfather and to adhere to the Church of England. At the age of 57 years he deeded (Jan. 23, 1747) to a society in England for the propagating of the gospel in foreign parts, 14 acres, the income from which was to be used for the support of public worship in the Protestant Episcopal church in Bridgewater. He is regarded as the founder of Trinity church in that town. "He was reputed an honest man and an exemplary Christian." His wife died Feb. 5, 1770, aged 82, and he died Dec. 27, 1771, aged almost 82. Their children were born in Bridgewater:

- 1345431 Susanna, born Dec. 14, 1708
- 1345432 Bethiah, born Jan. 2, 1710
- 1345433 Mary, born Mar. 10, 1712
- 1345434 Samuel, born Mar. 14, 1714
- 1345435 Nathan, born Mar. 14, 1716
- 1345436 Abel, born Jan. 19, 1718
- 1345437 Obed, born Dec. 31, 1720
- 1345438 Elizabeth, born Dec. 16, 1722
- 1345439 Sarah, born 1724: died in infancy
- 1345430 Silence, born Nov. 9, 1726
- 134543.1 Ebenezer, born Dec. 7, 1727
- 134543.2 John, born Mar. 30, 1729
- 134543.3 Ezra, born July 28, 1730
- 134543.4 Sarah, born May 27, 1732

Susanna married June 14, 1736, Samuel Hayward. Bethiah married

*Benjamin Dean married in Taunton, Mass., Jan. 6, 1681, Sarah Williams. She was perhaps a granddaughter of Richard Williams of Taunton, baptized Jan. 28, 1606, in Gloucestershire, England, son of John Williams of Synwell, Gloucester, of the same family as Oliver Cromwell. Benjamin Dean was the son of Walter Dean, who was born at Chard, Somersetshire, England, and who came to America with his younger brother John in 1637. John's son John married Nov. 7, 1663, Sarah Edson, a daughter of Dea. Samuel, and Walter's son Ezra married on Dec. 17, 1676, Bethiah Edson, another daughter.

July 12, 1733, Ezra Dean of Taunton. Mary married (1) July 4, 1728, George Packard; (2) July 9, 1740, Jonathan Mehurin. Samuel married Sept. 26, 1738, Martha Perkins. Abel married about 1740 Margaret Conant. Obed married (1) about 1743, Keturah Willis; (2) 1750. Elizabeth married June 6, 1745, Benanuel Leach. Silence married (1) Oct. 6, 1747, Nehemiah Packard; (2) Dec. 12, 1758, Josiah Dunbar. Ebenezer married Mar. 14, 1748, Jane Griffin. John married July 25, 1751, Hannah, daughter of Benjamin Allen. Ezra married Nov. 18, 1756, Rebecca, daughter of David Johnson. Sarah married July 21, 1749, John Cooper.

Nathan Edson married in Bridgewater Feb. 27, 1738, Mary Sprague, born Mar. 26, 1722, daughter of Jonathan and Lydia [Leavitt] Sprague. She was not yet 16, and he was about 22. Very little is now known about this couple, who were the parents of our Nathan. The births of the children were not recorded, and the family bible is lost trace of. The husband went to war when he was 32 years old, in King George's War. He enlisted Mar. 25, 1748, and served until Dec. 21 as a sentinel in Capt. Thomas Henderson's company, being stationed for a time at Pleasant Point. He died about two years after this—Mar. 31, 1751—at the age of 35. He left five children. The widow, at that time 28 years of age, never married again, as far as is known. She was appointed administratrix of her husband's estate and rendered her final account as such on Oct. 27, 1765, signing her name 'Mary Edson.' Her children were evidently of age at that time. Her death is not recorded. Children:

Nathan, born about 1739

Mary, who married Jan. 10, 1758, James Snow, jr.

Sarah, who married Jan. 31, 1760, Solomon Perkins, jr.

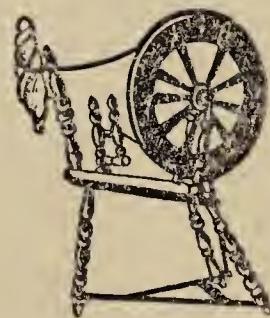

A son whose name is unknown: he is said to have settled in New Orleans about 1812, but this appears unlikely; perhaps he went to Olean, Cattaraugus county, N.Y.

A daughter whose name is unknown: she married a Kendall and lived near Black River, Jefferson county, N.Y.

The SPRAGUE ANCESTRY

EDWARD SPRAGUE of Upway, Dorsetshire, and of Devonshire, England, had three sons who emigrated to America, although he himself never left England. He died in 1614. The sons were:

1. Ralph, who settled at Charlestown in 1628; died 1650
2. Richard
3. William

WILLIAM SPRAGUE came with his two brothers in 1628. He married in 1635 Millicent Eames, probably a daughter of Anthony Eames of Charlestown. He graduated from Harvard College the next year, and settled in Hingham, owning interests in Marshfield. He died Oct. 26, 1675, and his wife died Feb. 8, 1696. Children:

- 31 Anthony, baptized May 23, 1636, in Charlestown
- 32 John, born 1638 in Hingham
- 33 Samuel, born 1640
- 34 Elizabeth, born 1641
- 35 Jonathan, born 1643; died 1647
- 36 Persis, born 1643; married John Doggett
- 37 Joanna, born 1644; mar. Dec. 16, 1667, Caleb Church
- 38 Jonathan, born 1648; settled at Weymouth
- 39 William, born May 7, 1650
- 30 Mary, born 1652; married Thomas King of Scituate
- 3.1 Hannah, born Feb. 25, 1655

WILLIAM SPRAGUE married Dec. 30, 1674, Deborah Lane, born June 20, 1652, daughter of Andrew and Tryphena Lane of Hingham. He owned his father's estate at Hingham; was selectman several years, and finally removed to Providence, Rhode Island. Children, born in Hingham, Mass.:

- 391 William, Dec. 24, 1675
- 392 Deborah, May 24, 1678
- 393 Joanna, Feb. 15, 1680
- 394 Jonathan, July 24, 1686
- 395 Abiah, Jan. 27, 1689
- 396 John, Sept. 13, 1692
- 397 Benjamin, Jan. 23, 1695

JONATHAN SPRAGUE married Lydia Leavitt, born in 1691, daughter of Israel and Lydia [Jackson]* Leavitt of Hingham. He went with his father to Providence, and later settled in the south part of Bridgewater, where his children were all born. He died Apr. 10, 1756, aged 69, and his grave-stone bears the information that he "was the grandson of

NATHAN EDSON AND HIS WIFE, MARY HALL

THE town of Bridgewater, in Plymouth county, Massachusetts, had been the home of the Edson family for almost a hundred years when Nathan Edson, great-great-grandson of the first Samuel, was born. His early years must have been more or less hard, for he could not have been over 12 years old when his father died. The care of the little farm and the work required of him in helping his mother bring up the family of younger children undoubtedly strengthened the boy's character and prepared him for the hardships of a soldier's lot and of pioneering in the western wilderness. That he was a man of resolute nature and enterprising character we have abundant proof.

His uncles, for some reason, remained loyalists as the days of the American revolution drew near, as many men of means and advancing years did. His uncle John, "a man of more than ordinary talents, amiable in his disposition, of affable manners and withall a pious and exemplary Christian and attached to the Church of England," says Elijah Hay-third ship, Ann, 1623; secretary of the colony, and a noted man. His father, George Morton, was born in Yorkshire, England (brother of Thomas who was baptized, presumably, Feb. 12, 1599, in Austerfield); married at Leyden, Holland, July 23 (Aug. 2 newstyle), 1612, Julianna, daughter of Alexander Carpenter of Bath, England, sister of Gov. Wm. Bradford's wife.

ward in "Edsons Early Settled in Bridgewater," published in 1864 although written in 1853, "was tried before a court in the early part of 1777 and sent to Boston. He was placed on board a guardship, but later removed to a private dwelling house, where he died in the fall of 1777 with the smallpox." Nathan did not share the opinions of his uncle but was an early supporter of the colonial cause. . . . His grandfather Sprague died when Nathan was about 17 years old, and his grandfather Edson died after Nathan was married and living out in Worcester county.

Nathan Edson was short though stockily built. The Edsons were known as rugged men, for Elijah Hayward, who wrote the history just referred to and whose grandmother was an Edson, tells us that his greatgrandfather, Capt. Josiah Edson, wrote a history of Bridgewater in which he stated that "the Willis and Mitchell families were the tallest men, the Haywards the shortest and the Edsons and Bretts the most active and athletic." The manuscript for this book, which is said to have contained a minute history of the early families of Bridgewater, has not been preserved. Captain Edson was a son of Joseph Edson 13456. At his death in 1762 his papers came into possession of his son, Col. Josiah Edson, a prominent loyalist officer whose estate was confiscated in 1778 and who died a few months later of a heart broken by the turn of fate, his widow later suffering from poverty; and the manuscript was never since found.

At the outbreak of the war between England and France in 1756, known in America as the French and Indian war, Nathan was probably 17 years old. A few years later he decided to serve the king as a soldier. He enlisted May 6, 1761, under Capt. Lemuel Dunbar of Bridgewater. He served to Dec. 7—a period of 7 months. After a rest of three months and a half he again enlisted, on Mar. 23, 1762, in Capt. Josiah Dunbar's company. This time he served 8 months, his term expiring Nov. 20. Altogether he saw a year and three months of service in that war. He was then 23 years old.

After the war he probably remained in Bridgewater, and in a few years he was ready to establish a home for himself. Many of the young men of Bridgewater were striking out westward. Nathan became interested in Petersham, in Worcester county, and it is likely that he had already visited the place and decided to locate there. He was in love with a young woman named Mary Hall, who lived, we surmise, on a farm near the Edsons. It is probable that she was born in Raynham, a town next west of Bridgewater, and was a sister of Anna Hall of Raynham who married, some months later, Samuel Edson on Apr. 30, 1767, in Bridgewater. Samuel was Nathan's cousin and was the fifth of that name. Anna's mother was also named Anna.

There is a romantic legend about Mary Hall, although it is more than likely that Mary's mother was the person to whom it refers. The mother of Mary Hall was Anna Giffins, we are told, and the family lived in the north of Ireland and were Scotch. At the age of 17 Mary Hall—or Anna Giffins—was induced by an aunt to embark for America. The final persuasion was a generous sum in gold guineas, which the girl quilted in three rows in her skirt. The ship was wrecked. Mary had her aunt by the arm when they went into the water. The weight of Mary's skirt was so great that she had to slip it and lose it—gold and all. A sailor grasped Mary by the hair and saved both the women. For seven days they lived on black cherries from a cask of rum.*

After awhile the aunt grew homesick and wished Mary to go back with her, the story runs, but she chose not to go. She worked in a city. Her father came after her but she did not go with him: she was so frightened by crossing the water she did not want to try it again. When the father got home the mother soon died; then soon the father. . . . Mary Hall was married on Sept. 2, 1766, to Nathan Edson, in Bridgewater. Tradition says she was born in 1740.

Soon after their marriage in 1766 Nathan Edson and his wife settled in Petersham, over in Worcester county. There their children were born—first Anna, named after her grandmother, and then Nathan, John, Willard, Alfred, Barnabas, Mary (Polly), Calvin, Sarah and Olive. It is said that there were eleven children—that Gamaliel was the youngest son—but only ten are in the town records of Petersham. Gamaliel is said to have drowned in Madison Lake in New York when a young man.

*From a letter written Nov. 29, 1893, by Mrs. Rebecca (Gregg) Moon.

Nathan Edson had lived in Petersham some 8 or 9 years when events began to shape themselves toward a war against the mother country. Organizations known as "minute men" were being formed among the farmers in Massachusetts, to be ready on short notice to defend their rights and interests against British soldiers, who were quartered in Boston. Nathan belonged to the Bridgewater company, where he often visited and traded. He was 36 years old and had five children, but his courageous spirit and his familiarity with arms made him a valuable man. Many of his relatives were enlisted in the cause—over 30 Edsons later saw active service—and his wife, with the Scotch blood that felt no love for England, was more than willing to look after the farm and take care of the household while her husband shouldered his musket to fight for liberty.

When the alarm came from Lexington Apr. 19, 1775, he was in Bridgewater and marched in Capt. Josiah Hayden's company of minute men and took part in the memorable battle of Lexington, the distance being 25 or 30 miles from Bridgewater. He enlisted May 1, 1775—less than two weeks later—and was with the new Continental army at the siege of Boston. He took part in the battle of Bunker Hill. In this famous battle there were eight Edsons, all of whom survived the fight. They were Abijah Edson, Caleb Edson, Hosea Edson, Jonathan Edson, Nathan Edson of Stafford, Samuel Edson, Thomas Edson and our Nathan Edson.

On Apr. 2, 1777, he enlisted as a sergeant in Captain Edward Cobb's company in Col. Jonathan Titcomb's regiment. He served two months at Bristol, Rhode Island, not far from Bridgewater. Upon the expiration of this enlistment June 21 he spent a few weeks at home and then on July 9, 1777, he reenlisted in the same company, in Col. Thomas Robinson's regiment, to serve till the end of the year—5 months and 22 days. At the end of this term he immediately enlisted again—Jan. 1, 1778—as a sergeant in Capt. Joseph Cole's company in Col. John Jacob's regiment and served until Oct. 3, 1778, a period of over 9 months. The activities of war were shifting to the south: New England was no longer the pivotal point of the struggle. He had done his part: he was now 40 years old. There was a 7-months old daughter at home he wanted to see, named after her mother, Mary. Which was his mother's name, also. He hung up his gun, and thereafter never took part in any battle.

The war was ended in a few years. Victory crowned the struggle of the revolutionary army, and the colony became the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Nathan tended his farm in Petersham and prospered: his children were growing up. The oldest daughter, Anna, married on Feb. 26, 1786, a young soldier named Robert Willis Seaver. Then the next year the son Willard, a fine lad of 14 years, was killed by a bolt of lightning. He and another boy were bringing a pail of water.* A storm was coming, and as the boys came into the door yard the lightning struck, killing Willard and stunning his companion. The mother was so shocked that she went into spasms: always after that she became sick at the approach of a storm.

When the first census was taken in 1790 the family of Nathan Edson of Petersham consisted of himself and one son over 16 years of age, a son under 16, three daughters and his wife Mary. The older sons—Nathan, aged 21, and John, aged 20, were evidently not at home; Alfred was nearly 16, Barnabas was 14 and Calvin, 10. The daughters at home were Mary, Sarah and Olive. Alfred was probably working for some of his relatives in another town. In 1791 the family moved from Massachusetts westward into central New York, to what is now Madison county, at that time being a part of Tioga county. The history of Madison county published in 1880 by James H. Smith says that "the first settlement in the town of Stockbridge, at that time called Whites-town, was made in 1791 by Nathan Edson, who came from New Hampshire with his sons John, Barney and Calvin, young unmarried men, and daughters Nancy, Sarah, Polly and Olive, the first of whom was married to Robert W. Seaver, who came with them. Nathan Edson took up the lot next north of the southeast corner of the town."

Alfred came a few years later and located on the same lot. He later was married (the marriage intention was recorded back in Bridgewater, Mass., April 16, 1796) to Eunice Snow, his cousin. Jonathan Snow, a relative of the Edsons, came to Stockbridge soon after them. Another early settler of the town was Oliver Stewart, also a veteran of the Revolution, who came with his family from Washington county in 1796. His daughter Lydia became the second wife of Alfred Edson in 1801. Alfred removed to the south part of the town and subsequently leased a farm from the Indians, where he continued to live until his death. He built a very large house, with many rooms and fireplaces.

*It has been said that they were carrying a sack of wheat from a field and were transferring it from the shoulder of one boy to that of the other.

Nathan, the oldest son, married a Miss White of Oneida county. He resided in Cleveland, Ohio, where he had a beautiful home, at the time of his death. He was visiting in New York City and dropped dead on the street. He belonged to several lodges and there was a very large funeral, with special cars and a large floral display.

John, the second son, married first a girl named Sarah and second, Clarissa. In 1806 he removed to Batavia, N.Y.

Barnabas, the fifth son, married Anna Walsworth in 1798 and removed to the locality of Batavia soon after John. He subsequently settled in Chautauqua county.

Calvin, the sixth son, married Dolly May in 1801. He resided in the south edge of Lenox in Madison county at the time of his death.

Nancy Seaver and her husband removed to Alexander in Genesee county, of which Batavia is the county seat. Later they moved to Chautauqua county.

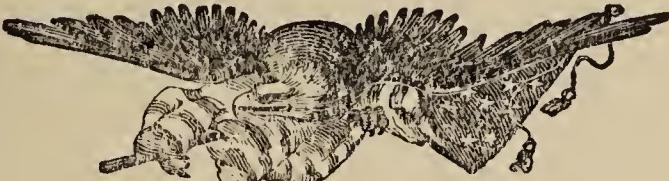

Polly married John Devine in 1793—their marriage was the first one in the town of Stockbridge. John Devine died a few years after his marriage and Polly later married Daniel Thurston, who succeeded him on the same farm. Her third husband was Michael Tooke.

Sally Edson married William Devine, a brother to John. He kept a tavern and later moved to the western part of the state. In April, 1809, he and Barnabas Cole, Barnabas Edson and Robert W. Seaver bought neighboring lots in the present town of Charlotte, Chautauqua county, N.Y.

Olive, the youngest daughter, married Zenas Cole, who bought Calvin Edson's farm. They removed to Cincinnati.

In 1820 Nathan Edson, then over 80 years of age, moved to a small farm in the north part of town which he leased of the Indians. In the past 30 years he had seen the locality change to a thriving community from the domain of the Mohawks, Onondagas, Cayugas, Oneidas and Tuscaroras. His cabin had stood in a wilderness that was now overcrowded with farms. His children were grown and many of them had moved on westward to new frontiers. He lived respected by his neighbors and honored by his descendants: although not rich he was comfortably circumstanced and never applied for a pension. He was a democrat in politics. He lived to see the semi-centennial of American independence, and now reposes in a grave marked by the Daughters of the American Revolution, beside his wife, in a plot of land he gave off his farm between Munnsville and Solsville.

Nathan Edson died in Stockbridge (at that time a part of Smithfield), Madison county, N.Y., on Aug. 16, 1825, aged 86 years, and  his widow Mary died in ality on Dec. 12, 1836.

The End of the Record

This ends our Genealogy of the descendants of Nathan and Mary (Hall) Edson. Maybe at some future time we shall publish a revised edition but as the task is rather onerous we have our doubts. We started to gather this material about twenty years ago, and began the printing four years ago. We could have secured many more records by more diligent quest, but as nobody was paying us a salary to do this we didn't do it. What we have got together is considerable and will be a great help to anyone who may later attempt to publish a more complete genealogy.

We got some of these records from Jarvis B. Edson's "Edsons in England and America," published in 1903, but the greater part of it was obtained by correspondence with members of the family, and we acknowledge our indebtedness to them for their helpfulness. We shall keep on looking for more family records, and we urge the members of the family to keep what data they may come across. Some time it would be good to have a family reunion and perhaps form an association, so that someone could be appointed recorder of the family—a sort of central agency to keep in touch with the divergent and fast scattering kinsfolk.

We found a note in the Gazetteer of the State of New York which may be a clue as to the family of Mary Hall. It states that the first death to occur in the town of Stockbridge, N. Y., was that of the widow Anna Hall, who died in 1795. This woman was probably the mother of Mary (Hall) Edson. See page 9. Nobody by the name of Hall is given in the vital records of Petersham, Mass., before 1840, and no Anna Hall is listed as head of a family in Massachusetts in the First Census, 1790.

June —, 1821, in Berlin, Germany, and died May —, 1911, and is buried at Rose Hill cemetery, Syracuse, N. Y. His wife Angeline Maria Shafer was born in 1833 in Hessen-Cassel, Germany, and died Apr. —, 1913, and is buried beside her husband.) Peter Ira Rogers was the son of Peter Rogers, born in County Mayo, Ireland, died in 1860 and is buried at Jamesville, N. Y., who married Ann Margaret Mullen, born in County Mayo in 1833 and died in 1910 and is buried at Fayetteville, N. Y., beside her second husband.

The ALDEN ANCESTRY

HON. JOHN¹ ALDEN was, as we all know, one of the famous Mayflower passengers in 1620, and it is said that he was the first man to land at Plymouth. In 1623 he married Priscilla Mullens, daughter of William and Alice, who were also passengers on the first ship. It is needless to tell about John Alden here. He died Sept. 12, 1687, aged about 88, and it is not known when or where Priscilla died. Children:

SAMUEL⁴ ALDEN married in 1728 Abiah Edson, born in Bridgewater Apr. 6, 1706, daughter of Josiah and Sarah [Packard] Edson. Josiah Edson was a son of Joseph and grandson of Dea. Samuel Edson. Samuel Alden lived in Titicut parish, where his children were born. His wife Abiah died, and he married (2) Dec. 28, 1752, Rebecca Washburn, born Feb. 15, 1711-2, daughter of Josiah and Mercy Washburn. He died Mar. 24, 1783, on his farm in Titicut, and his widow died there Nov. 20, 1785, aged 75. Children:

- 1 Abiah, Feb. 24, 1729; m. Nov. 26, 1751, Seth Harris

JOSIAH⁵ ALDEN married (intention recorded Sept. 2, 1761, in Bridgewater) Bathsheba Jones of Raynham, born Apr. 5, 1743, daughter of Nathan and Bathsheba [Drown] Jones. He served as a soldier in the Revolutionary war at the age of 42, enlisting at Sturbridge July 30, 1780, discharged Aug. 9, serving 11 days on an alarm at Tiverton, R. I., enlisting Sept. 8 and being discharged Dec. 31, and enlisting again Jan. 27, 1781, discharged Mar. 10. In later life he accompanied his son Elijah to Brimfield, in that part now Wales, and later went to Ludlow, where on Dec. 17, 1811, he signed an agreement with his son Benjamin whereby Josiah paid Benjamin $400 and deeded him the farm where they then lived on condition that Benjamin would care for his father and mother, Josiah and Bathsheba Alden, as long as they lived, and if Bathsheba should survive Josiah then Benjamin promised to divide her wearing apparel among her four daughters, Rebecca, Lucy, Bathsheba and Charity and Ruby, the daughter of Benjamin Winchester. No record is kept of the death of Josiah or Bathsheba, but in the records of Bridgewater is given the date of death of Widow Alden, July 17, 1833, aged 89, in Titicut. The old family Bible was owned by the son Elijah, who left it with his daughter Martha, who lived in Springfield and later went out to Terre Haute, Ind. Children (from different records):

1	Elijah	Feb. 10, 1763; m. Aug. 31, 1783, Rebecca Fuller
2	Abiah	m. Jan. 5, 1792, Benj. Winchester
3	Lucy	m. May 29, 1793, Amos Fletcher
4	Azel	1770; m. Mar. 10, 1791, Bethany Wilbor
5	Rebecca	m. Dec. 10, 1789, James Snow
6	Josiah	1773; m. June 17, 1792, Olive Brown
7	Bathsheba	[olph, Vt.]
8	Charity	; m. Peter Trask of Rand-
9	Benjamin	1781; m. Apr. 7, 1803, Polly Hodges

The manuscript history of Wales, Mass., written by Ab-salom Gardiner, states that "Josiah Alden came to this town from Bridgewater in 1791, continued here until 1807 and then returned to Bridgewater." The land records show that Josiah Alden of Brimfield bought land Dec. 21, 1791, in South Brimfield [now the town of Wales].

ELIJAH⁶ ALDEN is said to have enlisted at the age of 12 in the Revolutionary army, being a large boy for his age, and to have gone with Arnold's expedition to Canada and to have been held a prisoner in Quebec for some time. Our grandmother (his granddaughter) used to speak of this and it may have been true, but we know there were older men of the same name who were also in the war. At any rate, he was pensioned for service in the Continental line, receiving $21.00 a year. The records show that he enlisted from Sturbridge and served 40 days from Feb. 1, 1780, as a private under Capt. Abraham Washburn, and again enlisted July 19, 1781, and served four months and 14 days under Capt. Elijah Baker, Col. William Turner. He stated this in his application for a pension Oct. 9, 1832, when he lived in Belchertown.

He married in Bridgewater on Aug. 31, 1783, Rebecca Fuller, born in Kingston on May 19, 1761, daughter of Barnabas and Rebecca [Cushman] Fuller. He followed the occupation of blacksmith and moved many times: he loved to talk but never cared much for worldly possessions. In his old age he went back to Bridgewater, where he died July 13, 1843, aged 80. His widow went to Springfield to live with her daughter Martha, and died there Oct. 28, 1846, aged 85. The births of their children are not on record:

| 4 | Elijah | m. 1803 Jerusha Sweet |
| 5 | Barzillai | 1798, Wales: d. Nov. 8, 1818, in Harvard |

The son Elijah married in 1813 Jerusha Sweet of Springfield and was drowned in the Connecticut river in 1816, leaving a daughter. Barzillai joined the Shaker colony at Harvard and died at the age of 21 years. Sophronia also died among the Shakers.

GILBERT⁷ ALDEN was a school teacher. He married in Sturbridge on Feb. 16, 1815, Rachel Smith, born there May 8, 1788, daughter of Nahum and Ruth [Newell] Smith. Her father was a Revolutionary soldier and was the fifth in descent from Henry Smith, who came from England to Dedham, Mass., in 1637. After his marriage Gilbert Alden moved to Madison, Madison county, N. Y., and was hired to teach a pioneer school, and there his children were all born. In about 1847 he and his wife went out to Wisconsin to live with their daughter Henrietta. There he died April 10, 1854, aged 66, and his widow died June 6, 1863, aged 75, at Bristol. Children:
